

VoIP news

The UK's Daily VoIP News Digest

Monday 15th of October 2007

- Home
- News
- Blog
-

June 26, 2007

Raketu launches RakWeb VoIP for Mobile Devices

Permalink: Raketu launches RakWeb VoIP for Mobile Devices

by Jan Harris

Raketu has announced RakWeb VoIP telephony services for use on mobile devices.

The service will be available on Symbian handsets such as the Nokia E70, Mobile Windows Smartphone models 8125/8525, and Linux-based mobile devices such as the Nokia 770.

RakWeb is web-based and consumers will not need to download any software. The service is available over any Internet connection, from broadband to dial-up.

Customers use the service by visiting www.Raketu.mobi from a mobile device, entering the mobile's number and then entering the destination number.

Raketu then connects the lines at a significantly lower cost than the traditional calling rate.

Raketu currently has users in over 150 countries around the world.

 Email This Post  Print This Post

Add to Bookmarks:

 Del.icio.us  Digg  Furl

 StumbleUpon  Yahoo MyWeb  Google  Spurl

Related posts for: Raketu launches RakWeb VoIP for Mobile Devices

70% of firms will use VoIP

A new study by Coleman Parkes Research forecasts that seven out of ten global businesses could be regularly using VoIP on mobile devices over the next...

Fring launched on Windows Mobile smartphones

Mobile VoIP company, fring, has extended its service to all Windows Mobile 5.0 and 6.0 series handsets. fring is a mobile Voice over Internet Prot...

Lindy announces entry-level USB VoIP phone

Lindy Electronics' latest USB VoIP phone is idea for anyone who is put off from using Skype by the usual headset and microphone arrangement. The p...

New VOIP Service from BT

BT has introduced its own VOIP service that will allow users to access Microsoft Office documents and applications while they are away from their comp...

WiFiMobile provides international GSM calls at local rates

Mobile VoIP provider, WiFiMobile, has improved its international calling service for users in the US and UK. The company has addressed the issue ...

Comments

Name

Email

Website

Please add 5 and 8

Speak your mind

Submit Comment

1 Comment so far

1. londonrain on July 26, 2007 7:01 pm

I've been waiting for the web-based service from Raketu for a long while now. It's a very exciting feature that allows me to all friends around the world straight from my phone for almost free charges. In addition, the application itself also offers tons of free services such as calling, email, ipTV. I would recommend Raketu to anyone.

Previous: « FreshTel provides VoIP products in ASDA UK

Next: OMTA promotes standard for VoIP on cellphones »

Visited 477 times, 6 so far today since July 12th 2007

