Raketu's RakOut WebPhone Opens Web-Based Telephony To Mac /

Saturday August 23, 2008

Raketu's new web-based telephony service will extend the ability of making computer-to-phone calls to Mac and any mobile or fixed phone around the world. The service is called RakOut WebPhone, and works through a web press release.

I checked the rates and they seem really low. What I find more interesting is the flat monthly rates of some (still unlimited and packaged calls to certain common destinations. For instance, you can have 1000 free minutes per month. Despite the inconvenience of needing to have a computer with an Internet connection to make calls, this price of you who have some more time, Raketu offers a free hour against some makeup on your profile like a blog, p
