Raketu Communications Integrates with iPhone

Raketu Communications is an Internet communications, information, and entertainment company. They just announced that they are extending their social networking application to the Apple iPhone. Their integrated communications platform will enable users to collaborate and share content inside and outside of the Raketu network. Raketu's web-based Social Networking and Media Drive iPhone Application allows blog updates, bulletins and comments through their real-time communications platform. Users can also use non-Raketu networks as well. The platform also allows users to communicate with friends in a chat-like environment. iPhone users can store and share multimedia across social networks like Facebook and MySpace. Users can also make international calls, send texts, instant messages and email. Some of the services are free and other services are at a discounted rate.

Jamie's MOTTO.....

Don't follow the path that is already there....go instead where there is no path....and leave a trail....

This trail is a part of a long journey
